With its gently rolled back, the Keira armchair (from $7,864) looks pretty from all angles.

The Reese bench ($2,920) suits a living room, front hall or the foot of a bed. Avenue mirror, from $3,400.

DESIGN NEWS

Plum Perfect

Toronto designer Colleen McGill's new furniture line offers modern interpretations of classic shapes. Launched in December 2012,

Plum Furniture & Design Solutions debuts with tailored upholstered pieces (manufactured in the Toronto area), elegant brass cocktail tables and curvy desks with a charm that's feminine, but never frilly. Notes McGill, "I created the line to provide great designs that appeal to all generations."

The repeating motif of the Hicks coffee table ($7,168) is a nod to the design of an armoire that belonged to English heiress Lady Mountbatten.

A curved back and tailored skirt are charming details on the Happy loveseat (from $4,168), which has dainty proportions perfect for smaller spaces.

Just what a dream boudoir needs: a fantasy vanity table in glossy white lacquer with a warm, sculptural brass base. Coco desk, $6,640.

Spring Clean

Flowers are unfurling at last, and even the design world is caught up in spring. Wetstyle's Tulip collection soaking tub takes its cue from the garden, swooping up from the floor and opening into a petal-like rim. Designer Joël Dupras gave both ends a rounded shape, so two bathers can comfortably lean back, and a high-gloss interior and matte exterior. From $6,000. At retailers across Canada.
